

Privacy Policy

Privacy Statement

Abertillery Learning Community recognises that when you choose to provide us with information about yourself, you trust us to act in a responsible manner.

Abertillery Learning Community does not store any personal information about individuals who access this website, except where you voluntarily choose to give us your personal details via email, using an electronic form or enquiring about any of our services.

We will not provide any of your personal information obtained via the web to any other outside companies or individuals unless required to do so by law or with your express consent.

Our website may provide links to third party sites. Since we do not control those websites, we encourage you to review the privacy policies of these third party sites.

Surveys

On occasion, we may conduct online surveys. This is used to gauge our service, collect demographic information and other information that we may find useful. These surveys are optional. We may share non-personal, aggregated information with third parties. If you are under 18, please get your parent/carer's permission beforehand whenever you provide personal information to the Learning Community's website.

Remote Learning

This statement also extends to the Learning Community's protocols for the provision of remote learning and the home/school contract that is in place.

Revisions

Abertillery Learning Community may revise these Terms at any time by updating this posting. You are advised to visit this page from time to time to review the current Terms because they are binding on you. Certain provisions of these Terms may be superseded by expressly designated legal notices or terms located on particular pages on the Abertillery Learning Community website.

Further information on how personal data is used is available in the Learning Community's Data Protection Policy.